Dear Vanaja Sri,

It is my great pleasure to inform you that you have been accepted for admission into the Master of Science in Cell and Molecular Biology Graduate Program at Grand Valley State University. On behalf of the staff and faculty we would like to welcome and congratulate you.

Graduate students choose Grand Valley to further their education because of the superb instruction, innovative research, and high-tech facilities available. Grand Valley graduate students are focused on pursuing knowledge, developing new skills, and advancing in their careers – making student-to-student interaction and networking a very rewarding part of our graduate programs.

The Cell and Molecular Biology faculty are working to ensure that you receive the best advice and direction as you prepare for your graduate program. To help you plan your course work, a faculty advisor will be assigned to you. We will be sending you your advisor's name and contact information as well as other details relating to your admission, including a confirmation of the emphasis – biotechnology or research – very soon. In the meantime, please do not hesitate to contact me at 616-331-2473 or stavesm@gvsu.edu if you have any questions.

Please send a letter or email confirming your intention to enroll in the program to our departmental coordinator, Mitzi Loving, at lovingm@gvsu.edu and to our departmental graduate admissions coordinator, Patrick Thorpe, at thorpep@gvsu.edu.

Again, congratulations on your acceptance to Grand Valley State University. I hope you will find your time at Grand Valley a rich and rewarding experience.

Sincerely,

Mark P. Staves
